

Women's History Month

#WomensHistoryMonth

As March approaches, we eagerly anticipate the opportunity to share our lineup for Women's History Month 2025. Our curation team has meticulously selected titles to educate on the historical journey of women, from challenges they faced to contemporary events. We have thoughtfully chosen books that highlight significant female figures, and titles addressing present-day trials. This curated collection not only applauds the achievements of women but also aims to inspire recognition and empowerment of all female trailblazers at your institution. To help you talk to faculty, staff, and students about our Women's History Month collection, we've put together this customizable toolkit.
