#MLKDay

Black America Since MLK: And Still I Rise

Martin Luther King, Jr. Day is a day to remember the life and legacy of one of America's most important civil rights leaders. To honor this day and its meaning, we've curated a collection of films on MLK and the Civil Rights Movement. These titles feature archival footage of Martin Luther King, Jr. delivering his influence words, including the entirety of his "I Have a Dream" speech from the March on Washington on August 28, 1963. Join us as we honor the memory of the man and reflect on the changes he helped enact in the United States by sharing this collection of films with your community. To assist your messaging efforts, please review the accompanying toolkit.
