The student reading app

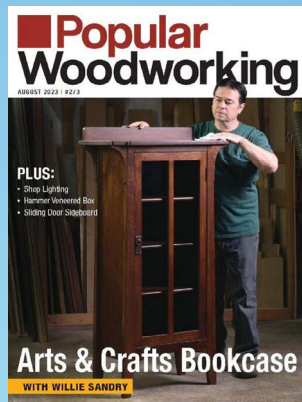

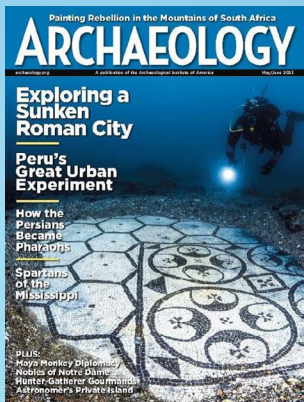

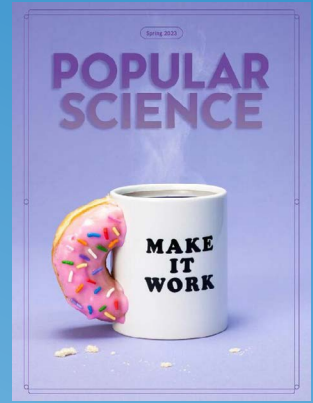

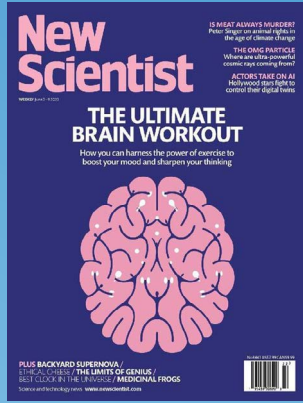

Digital magazines for every subject

Reach student readers with always available digital magazines! You can find magazines for every subject in the Sora app, which your students are already using for ebooks and audiobooks. Our collection* includes current issues and back issues for over 100 of the most popular magazines for education and entertainment today. The best part? Each issue can be borrowed by as many students at a time as needed, with no waiting.

Use this resource to learn more about how our school's digital magazines align with different subject areas.

Please note: Content availability is subject to change at the discretion of the publisher. Availability may also vary by geographic rights.*
