Social Media Post Copy #3

Across the Universe is Kanopy's Big Movie Watch! A breathtaking, Beatles-inspired musical that blends love, protest, art, and the spirit of the 1960s, all told through unforgettable songs you know by heart. Stream it for FREE: BigMovieWatch.com

Programing ideas:

- Host a Beatles Night. Play songs from the film soundtrack or hold a “Name That Beatles Tune” trivia game before screening the film (Across the Universe includes Public Performance Rights).
- Lead a lyric-to-literature discussion. Explore Beatles' lyrics as poetry and analyze themes such as love, protest, generational change, and imagination.
- Invite patrons to make 60s-inspired artwork such as posters, collages, or psychedelic-style digital art. Display the finished pieces throughout your library and encourage patrons to stream Across the Universe.
- Set up a psychedelic photo booth corner. Use a colorful backdrop, projections, neon props, peace signs, or lava lamp visuals. Encourage patrons to share photos on social media and tag your library.
- Host a DIY tie-dye or denim patch workshop. Play Beatles music or have Across the Universe playing in the background while patrons create.
- Build a collaborative “Peace Wall”. Provide sticky notes, markers, or chalkboard space for patrons to share hopes, dreams, causes, or messages of unity.
- Curate a themed book display. Feature titles that highlight 1960s history and culture, the peace movement and activism, or coming-of-age stories.
